

FUTURE CHAMPIONS GOLF MAGAZINE

MAGAZINE SPONSORSHIP

The Future Champions Golf Magazine will become the leading junior golf publication worldwide. This is an exciting time in the game of golf as the sport is booming on all levels. In recent years, golf was really only growing in competitive golf but since the pandemic hit and people's interests have changed, golf has become the game of choice for many.

In each issue of the magazine, we have goals to inspire junior golfers and educate parents on the process of becoming a great player and more importantly, how to love the game. We think golf is so important for families and wish every family could golf together for a lifetime. As a parent, what more could you want than being able to spend several hours out on the golf course with your kids for a lifetime.

So, sit back and please enjoy the magazine and grow with us. Should you have any feedback or interests for future issues, please let us know. Advertisers, please contact us for more information on how to be involved with our growing community. As always, we hope you play the game with passion, keep your head up high, walk with a purpose and enjoy your time outdoors playing golf.

ABOUT FUTURE CHAMPIONS GOLF Founded in 2004 by PGA Teaching Professional Chris Smeal to become the #1 junior golf teaching programs in San Diego. This dream was reached by mid 2007 and continues to be the #1 place to send your kids to learn the game of golf and to become a collegiate golfer. In 2007 FCG launched the Tournament Program that has quickly grown into one of the largest associations in the world with over 100 tournaments for all levels of players. Our signature events feature as many as 630 players from over 30 countries. We are changing the landscape in junior golf and are excited about the future of the program.
